WILL TRY TO CHANGE THEM

The Diapason Singers Would Rather Meet on a Week Day.

By Laws May Be Altered—Annual Meeting of the Society
Here Tomorrow.

The Diapason Singing Society will hold its annual reunion and song service tomorrow afternoon in the Main Street Christian church. A large attendance is expected.

An effort will be made to change the constitution and by-laws so that the society may meet hereafter on some week day at the county fair grounds, where the members will have a better opportunity to renew acquaintances and mingle with one another.

Thomas J. Humes, president of the society, will preside at the meeting tomorrow. The other officers are: John A. Spurrier, chorister; J. O. Williams, vice president; W. L. King, secretary; O. C. Norris, treasurer, and Rev. Walter Smith, of Arlington, chaplain.

The meeting will be called to order promptly at 2 o'clock. The old Diapason songs will be sung and a thorough good time enjoyed. A number of non-resident members are expected to attend. Mrs. Mary Dean will preside at the organ.

The Diapason Society was originated several years ago by John A. Spurrier and A. G. Reeve. It now has one hundred and nineteen members, three members, Dr. Lot Green, of this city; Dr. Rucker, of Arlington, and J. L. Williamson, of this city, having died during the past year.

The society is composed of members of the old Diapason classes, conducted in this and surrounding counties in the sixties.

The first class was taught by Stephen Dungan, of Franklin, who is now living, and who will probably be present tomorrow. The first classes were conducted at Morristown, Arlington and Rushville. Dr. Dungan taught classes in this part of the State from 1860 to 1864. He was then succeeded by Prof. Tubbs, who taught from 1864 to 1867. John A. Spurrier studied under Prof. Tubbs and later became teacher. Prof. Tubbs and Mr. Spurrier taught classes at Milroy, Springhill, Richland, Andersonville, New Salem, Pin Hook, Little Flatrock church, Orange, Falmouth, Glenwood, Fairview, Carthage, Raleigh, Center, Ben Davis Creek and several points in Fayette county.

The organization that will meet tomorrow is similar to the Old Missouri Harmony Singing class, which meets at Morristown each year. It is the intention to continue the reunions as long as possible.

SHELBY COUNTY FARMER MAKES A BIG HAUL

The Shelbyville News says: "George Hawkins, a wealthy farmer living seven miles south of the city, who has made all his large fortune playing the boards at the Laskey Board of Trade in this city, is another large winner. Mr. Hawkins associated with several others, purchased 90,000 bushels of corn of M. A. Laskey, broker, last April. This corn was held until 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, when it was ordered sold and Mr. Hawkins and these associated with him cleared $8000 on the deal. Had they held the corn until 11 o'clock they would have made $2000 more. Mr. Hawkins will get about $6000 out of the deal, being one of the largest purchasers."

The "sorrowful tree," which grows on the island of Goa, near Bombay, is so called because it has a drooping, sad appearance during the day time; its aspect changing as the sun goes down. Then its leaves open, and fragrant blossoms appear.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL OVERRULED

Defendant in Kelso Damage Suit Will Appeal to the Supreme Court.

Friday's Connorsville Examiner says: The motion for new trial filed by the defendants in the Kelso $15,000 damage suit, in which the jury at a recent trial returned a verdict for the plaintiff, Mrs. Grace Kelso, for $1000, was overruled by the court today. It is not known just what action will be taken by counsel for the defense, but it is understood that they will appeal the case to the supreme court.

This is the case in which a "mother-in-law" is sued for the alleged alienation of her son's affections from his wife, and which has twice been tried in the Fayette circuit court and was decided at the last trial as above mentioned. It is understood that the attorneys for the defense will not give up and expect to fight the case through the higher courts.

IN FAVOR OF LOCK CANAL

By Decisive Vote of 110 to 36 House Settles Vexing Question

House Refuses to Sanction the Purchase of Canal Materials
Markets in of the World

Washington, June 16.—If congress should send a message to President Roosevelt providing for the construction of a sea-level canal on the Isthmus of Panama, he would veto it. This statement is made by authority.

Washington, June 16.—By a vote of 110 to 36, the house, at the end of a two-hours' debate on the appropriations for the Panama canal, decided that the canal should be of a lock type. After listening to the speech of Mr. Burton, of Ohio in favor of the lock canal and consuming an hour in the discussion of the amendment defining the type as presented by Mr. Littauer of New York, the house in committee of the whole expressed its opinion in favor of a lock canal. By a decisive vote the house refused to sanction the purchase of materials in the markets of the world for the Panama canal, the general position of the Republicans being that as the canal was to be built by American taxes the American workingman and Americans should have the advantage.

The bill amending the national banking law with the senate amendments was concurred in by the house by a vote of 125 to 70 after a sharp fight to postpone action. By the terms of the senate amendment a national bank may loan to a single borrower a sum not in excess of 30 per cent of its capital stock provided that the surplus of the bank is equal to at least twice its capital stock.

The Day in the Senate.

The time of the senate was in the main divided between the Panama canal bill and the Lake Erie and Ohio river ship canal bill. On the former there were speeches by Senators Teller and Morgan, while in connection with the latter a number of senators engaged in a controversy over the policy of granting a national charter to an interstate canal. Senator Bacon took positive ground against such a course, and spoke at length in presentation of his views. The Lake Erie bill was under consideration when at 6:15 the senate adjourned.

Many Consular Promotions.

The president sent to the senate the nominations of 61 consular officers, probably the largest number of such nominations ever submitted in a day. The list was the result of many weeks' work by Secretary Root and Wilbur Carr, the chief of the consular bureau, upon the general proposition to provide for a regular system of promotion in the service. Therefore, nearly all of the nominations are really promotions. All of these promotions were made upon the efficiency record of the consuls, thereby carrying out Secretary Root's original idea that the higher places in the consular service should be reserved for the reward of the consuls in the lower grades who had proved their merit, and as a result only the places at the foot of the list are left open for original appointments.

SHELBY COUNTY GIRL UNDERGOES OPERATION

Friday's Shelbyville Democrat says: "This morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer John, of Union township, Dr. Sexton, of Rushville, assisted by Dr. John Green, of Manilla, performed a surgical operation on Julia, the eight-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John. An abscess on the breast was removed. The condition was the result of an attack of pneumonia from which the little girl recently suffered. The operation is thought to be thoroughly successful and this afternoon the child is getting along nicely."

Intoxicating liquors have been made from the sap of the birch, the willow, the poplar and the sycamore.

DIFFERENCE OF OPINION

Public Offenses Act of the Legislature of 1905 is Causing Trouble.

Legislature Had no Intention of Repealing Any of the Temperance Laws.

Whether or not some important features of the Nicholson temperance law were repealed by the legislature of 1905 by the enactment of the public offenses act in the new criminal code, will be determined by the supreme court within the next few months.

It is an open question among attorneys throughout the State where the Nicholson law has been weakened. The public offenses act is supposed to repeal all law within its purview. Some attorneys are claiming that it repeals the Nicholson law, and two judges have quashed indictments for violations of provisions of the Nicholson law which are not found in the public offenses act. The latter fails to contain the Nicholson law provision prohibiting any one but the proprietor of a saloon or member of his family from entering the saloon on Sunday. It also omitted the provision for removal of screens on Sunday and after hours, and prohibiting minors from loitering around places where liquor is sold.

The Nicholson law forbids the use of musical instruments or other amusement features in a saloon, but the public offenses act say nothing on the subject. A saloonkeeper at Elkhart was arrested on the charge of maintaining a music box in his place. His attorneys tried to have the indictment quashed on the ground that there was nothing in the public offenses act prohibiting him from having music. The lower court overruled them and they appealed to the supreme court.

The opinion is expressed there that the legislature had no intention whatever of repealing any section of the Nicholson law, and that the supreme court will so hold. It will also be pointed out in support of this contention that the legislature showed its disposition to strengthen the temperance laws when it adopted the Moore amendment providing for a two years' blanket remonstrance. Prosecuting attorneys over the State are very much interested in having the question determined by the supreme court, as it is coming up constantly, and there has been no definite ruling. The prevailing opinion here is that the Nicholson law is not repealed. Local saloon men were recently fined for violating its provisions.

OATS CROP SHORT BUT WHEAT IS PROMISING

A well known farmer was in the city this morning, and made the statement that the oats crop in Rush county would be short this year. The long dry spell of early spring is to blame for this condition. Many acres of oats were sown and last fall the crop was expected to be large, but the open, dry spring weather proved fatal. The wheat crop will be comparatively large. Within the last few years the farmers of this country have sown more wheat than for years preceding. The heavy snow falls of last March did much to protect the young wheat and also kept the ground moist at a time when it was needed. Many wheat fields show better conditions than usual at this season of the year.

RUSHVILLE, IND., JUNE 16, 1906.

"After endorsing Bryan, the strongest plank in the Democratic State platform is a pledge for tariff revision. But it is unlikely the people of Indiana are in such straits they want another dose of tariff revision—certainly not at the hands of those who are responsible for the business demoralization and hard times brought about by their last efforts along that line, which by the way is the same sort of medicine they propose to dose us with again if we will let them.

Editor William R. Hearst, who publishes several great Democratic papers, recently bitterly arraigned National Democratic Chairman Thomas Taggart, alleging that the chairman has been and is controlled by Wall street interests, and that he has betrayed Democracy and continues to prostitute his party to serve his masters' purposes. The arraignment is the more significant, coming as it does from one who is talked of as one of the presidential possibilities within the Democratic ranks. In his editorial Mr. Hearst says:

"This chairman of the Democratic national committee, the notorious Tom Taggart, who maintains an institution for the revival of inebriates, and a gambling house for their spoliation, has taken it upon himself to appoint an advisory committee to the congressional campaign committee.

"The advisory committee which Taggart has chosen is, as might be expected, made up of representatives of the criminal corporations, and was dictated by that element in the national committee which betrayed the Democracy and misrepresented the people in the last Democratic campaign. Such a committee has no standing conferred upon it by political precedent, nor position with the people. There is no reason for its existence, no occasion for its creation, except the determination of the corporations to secure possession of party machinery everywhere. Whatever Tom Taggart's personal qualities may be, or however dubious his means of livelihood, he is chiefly unfitted to stand at the head of the Democratic organization because of his facile and eager willingness to serve as the tool of the corporations which controlled and betrayed the Democratic party in 1904. * * Such a committee appointed by a gambler, and made up of stock jobbers, trust lawyers and parasites of trusts and of Wall street, is a notification to all sincere citizens that their interests will not be considered by the present organization of the so-called Democracy. Too clearly the same old, disreputable and discredited gang of corrupt politicians is again to prostitute the Democratic party to the service of the trusts."

Our readers should bear in mind that the above censorious words are not from a Republican pen, but come from a Democratic editor and member of congress, and one who stands high with a large crowd of the Democracy. It is no wonder that Democrats are leaving their party when such facts as the above statements are based on, confront them.

POLITICAL GOSSIP

John L. Griffiths a gubernatorial possibility for 1908.

Indianapolis, Ind., June 16.—The Hon. John L. Griffiths, present consul general to Liverpool, may be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in 1908. He is considering the matter and will probably make up his mind definitely before the adjournment of the next legislature. A. T. Hert, a well-known Republican politician, who was here today, expressed a decided preference for Griffiths. He declared the latter to be one of the most popular men with the masses of the party and that there is a strong sentiment favorable to his nomination. He believes that Griffiths is much stronger than when he was defeated nearly eight years ago in the memorable race with Colonel Durbin. It is understood that Mr. Griffiths has been in consultation with many party leaders who have advised him to run. He will probably return to this country early in the fall to participate in the state campaign.

Governor Hoch of Kansas, who came here to address the National Editorial association on "The Country Editor, by One of Them," is a man something after the physical type of Governor Hanly. He is dark and strong-looking and impressed those who saw and heard him as being a man of considerable force and strength of character. To many he was typical of the present-day reformer. During his brief stay here he received considerable attention, but he seemed to like to appear merely as a country editor. During his speech he said he would rather be a country editor than governor of any state. He left here for Louisville to deliver an address at the home-coming celebration.

One of the pleasant features of the National Editorial association's convention this week was the reception tendered to the delegates and their wives by Vice President Fairbanks and wife at their beautiful home on North Meridian street late yesterday afternoon. The Fairbanks lawn is one of the most spacious and most inviting in Indianapolis. It is the pride of the owners and they made good use of it in entertaining their large number of guests. The vice president came here from Washington to meet with the editors and receive them at his home. Not to be outdone in hospitality, the editors formed a large reception committee and met him at the Union station when he arrived at noon. They had a band and were accompanied by over a hundred members of the Commercial club and the Marion club. The vice president was plainly affected by the cordiality of the big committee. He will remain here until Sunday before starting for Washington.

Democrats of the Thirteenth district have not given up hope of inducing B. F. Shively of South Bend to accept the nomination for congress. He has the matter under consideration and may attempt to defeat Congressman Brick next November.

Authorities Investigating.

Hammond, Ind., June 16.—The dead body of Edward Farrell, a contractor at Gary, but living at Hobart, was found on the railway tracks near Millers Station, and the first investigation by the coroner indicated death by accident. The throat was found to be cut, however, and this aroused suspicion, which was communicated to the authorities and an investigation is now in progress. Farrell had a dispute with three discharged employees, who threatened him with violence, and there is an effort to learn what connection these men had with Farrell's death.

San Francisco Again Shaken. San Francisco, June 16.—A severe earthquake was felt here at 9:41 last night. It lasted about five seconds. It was not heavy enough to do much damage, though it caused some of the walls of ruined buildings to fall. Two more slight earthquake shocks were experienced at 11:35.

Bankers to the Rescue.

St. Petersburg, June 16.—Weakness almost amounting to a panic developed at the opening of the bourse yesterday. Everybody wanted to sell and there were no buyers. Later, however, the bankers were forced to come to the rescue and steadied the market.

A Touchy Missourian.

Jefferson City, Mo., June 16.—Penitentiary Guard C. C. Guant of St. Joseph shot and killed Richard Smith, a negro porter in the Pacific House saloon, because Smith had asked Guant to move in order that he might sweep.

FULL OF GINGER

Spicy Correspondence Passes Between President and Wadsworth.

EXECUTIVE PRESSURE

The President Brings Powerful Influence to Bear Upon His Views Concerning Meat Inspection.

Representative Wadsworth Tells Him In this Connection That His View Is "Very, Very Wrong."

Washington, June 16.—As a result of an important conference held at the White House yesterday afternoon a change has taken place in the situation which makes for a solution of the difficulty in which the house committee on agriculture found itself after the president had indicated that the committee's substitute for the Beveridge amendment was wholly inadequate and unsatisfactory. The participants in the conference beside the president were J. B. Reynolds, who assisted in making the packinghouse inquiry for the president; Solicitor McCabe of the department of agriculture, and Representative Adams of Wisconsin.

After discussing the house substitute thoroughly with Mr. Adams, the president indicated just what he wanted written into the law. Mr. Adams said he would be perfectly willing to accept the suggestions made by the president and would work to that end in the committee. The president told him frankly, as he told Chairman Wadsworth Thursday, that the substitute as prepared by the majority of the house committee, was entirely unsatisfactory, and, to his mind, absolutely inadequate to meet the requirements of the situation. He objected particularly to the court review paragraph, which he thought ought to be eliminated.

The president said to Mr. Adams that he was not trying for any particular form of words in the proposed law, but was after a measure that would be effective and adequate, and proposed to get it if possible. The amendments the president suggested were satisfactory to Mr. Adams, who returned to the capitol to take up the matter with his colleagues.

Some Spicy Correspondence.

Chairman Wadsworth of the house committee on agriculture has made public the correspondence between President Roosevelt and himself regarding the meat inspection bill prepared by the committee.

The president in his letter says that almost every change in the house amendment was for the worse as compared with the senate amendment, and in his judgment so framed as to minimize the chance of rooting out the evils in the packing business. In his reply Mr. Wadsworth declares the president is "very, very wrong" in his estimate of the committee's bill, calls attention to provisions in the bill, and concludes with an expression of regret that the president should feel justified by inuendo at least in impugning the sincerity and the competency of a committee of the house of representatives.

"You have no warrant for it," says Mr. Wadsworth in closing.
